Naber Retires After Sixteen Years Service

Town Books and Funds Are Turned Over to Successor, William A. Rosing

One of the last official acts of former Supervisor Bernard F. Naber before turning over the township's books and funds to his successor, William A. Rosing, was the preparation of the detailed statement of the township's business for the fiscal year which closed March 30, and which marks the close of his sixteen-year career of office. The statement will be published in the Antioch News on April 22.

First elected supervisor twenty-two years ago, Naber served for four successive two-year terms. In 1929 he was not a candidate and in the two-man race between Rosing and Frank B. Kennedy, Rosing won and became Naber's successor in office.

During Rosing's first administration the state legislature increased the tenure of township offices from two to four years. In 1931 Rosing won re-election over two opponents and served the first four-year term in that office.

Supervisor 16 years
Re-entering the local political scene in 1935, Naber defeated three opponents by a substantial margin to win back the office he had formerly held. He was again re-elected in 1939. In all he served for 16 years as supervisor, without a defeat in his election campaigns for the office.

Barney, as he is known to his acquaintances, deserves great credit for having guided the town through the lean years of the depression, as well as for having served his community loyally and well at all times. His friends will tell you that no just criticism has ever been made of the manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the township's most important office. During his entire tenure in office he has published annually complete and accurate statements of the finances of the town, and tax experts, many of whom were from state offices, have commended him highly for the accuracy and completeness of his records. Many times he has employed auditors at his own expense, thus providing a double-check of his records.

Mr. Naber told a representative of the News that he feels deeply grateful to the people of the community for the co-operation they have given him. Supervisor Rosing enters upon the duties of his office with six years of experience, and his many friends believe that he will be a worthy successor to his efficient predecessor.

Webb New Road Commissioner
Meanwhile Robert J. Webb, newly elected highway commissioner, has resigned as deputy sheriff and today was preparing to take over the duties of Carl Barthel, who has served in the office for the past 12 years. He returns from office in order to devote all of his time to his private sand and gravel business. Webb was sworn in by the town clerk at the annual town meeting held Saturday night in the village hall.

At the annual meeting, which had been postponed from election day, until Saturday night, voters approved the budget and tax levy recommended by the town board. J. C. James was moderator.

Seek Volunteers for Surgical Dressing Work

More volunteer workers are needed for Antioch's Red Cross Surgical Dressing unit, committee members told the News today.

Although the local unit has contributed thousands of dressings, there is need for all and more than the local women can supply. Any girl or woman who has leisure time may call at the unit headquarters located in the Webb building over Holbek's 5 and 10c store.

Hours are: Tuesday, 9 to 4, and 7 to 9; Thursday, 12 to 4, and 7 to 9; and Friday, 12 to 4.

MORE DONATIONS SWELL ANTIOCH'S RED CROSS FUND

Late contributions have swelled the total of Antioch's Red Cross war emergency fund, Chairman Walter Scott reported at noon today.

While final figures were not available today, the late donations will increase considerably the total of $2,200.13 announced last week.

Among the additional contributors are Bruce Dalgaard, George Schlosser, E. G. Carney and Chas. A. Ackerman.

Legion Holds Post Meeting This Evening

Township air wardens and assisting wardens are being especially invited to attend the Post Meeting night of the Antioch American Legion this evening at which fire arms collected here under the Legion's auspices will be turned over to representatives of the Ninth Naval District.

Plans will be discussed for participation in the district meeting to be held at Grayslake Friday evening, and for the dance to be held at Lake Villa Saturday evening, May 1.

The party at Lake Villa will be similar to that held at Antioch recently for the benefit of the Boys in Service fund, netting $556.49.

Proceeds from the Lake Villa event will be used to help defray expenses for remembrances and gifts to the boys in the armed forces from Lake Villa community.

County Passes Its Bond Quota

Purchase $828,377 Worth During March; Exceed Goal by 11.7%

Lake county citizens exceeded their March war savings bond quota by 11.7 per cent, purchasing $828,377.87 in series "E" bonds, it was reported today by James F. Stiles, Jr., general chairman of the county war savings staff. The quota was $735,300.

Waukeganites purchased $358,612.66, which was 66 per cent above the city's quota. Barrington, with $45,883, had the best average, however, running 187 per cent over the quota. North Chicago was 119 per cent over the quota with the purchase of $81,318.62 in bonds.

Antioch with 171% was exceeded only by Barrington and North Chicago.

The complete report follows by cities as reported to the Federal Reserve bank, plus those issued by Great Lakes, which were apportioned to each township:

General Frank Parker—Executive Director of Illinois State Council of Defense.

Walter Hills Heads High School Board

Mrs. Helen Osmond Elected Secretary for 11th Time

The Antioch Township High school board of education at its organization meeting last night elected Walter K. Hills president, and again chose Mrs. Helen Osmond secretary to serve for the ensuing year.

Hills, serving his second term as board member, succeeds Arthur Maplethorpe as president. Maplethorpe who has been in ill health for several months, heeded the advice of physicians and retires with a splendid record to his credit.

Mrs. Osmond has served the board efficiently as secretary for 11 years, and the board's action in re-naming her to that office is considered commendable.

A light vote cast in the school election Saturday resulted in the re-election of Mrs. Osmond and the election of Arthur E. Bennett as board members. Bennett, a retired manufacturing chemist of Chicago, has made his home at Cedar Lake near Lake Villa for the past 17 years, being a resident of the area recently added to the local high school district. There was no opposition to the candidates and only 46 votes were cast.

Five members comprise the high school board, two being elected in two successive years and one every third year. The board elects its own president and secretary within ten days after the annual election. Hold-over members of the board this year are Ernest Glenn and Fred Scott.

School Trustee Elected
Held simultaneously with the high school election was the balloting for a member of the township board of school trustees. The candidate was Bert Edwards, who received 21 votes for re-election.

Other members of the three-member board are D. H. Minto and O. S. Klass. George B. Bartlett is treasurer by appointment.

Grade School Validates Tax Levy
Validation of the Antioch Grade school district's 14-year-old tax levy was effected at Saturday's annual election with 52 voters approving the educational fund proposition to two against, and 50 voting yes on the building fund levy to two against. Two ballots were found blank on the latter proposition. The affirmative vote removes a legal technicality upon which the Soo Line railroad based its claim that the tax was unlawful and which they had refused to pay. Balloting on the candidates resulted in the election of Mrs. Ida Mae Kofalk, president, 51 votes; Mrs. Helen Patrovsky and Roy E. Burdick, 111 and 109 votes respectively.

Forecast Light Vote In Village Election Tues.

Four Alderman Candidates on Ballot Without Opposition

Antioch's four candidates for village trustees are as good as elected, as no opposition has appeared and there are to date no rumors of write-in candidates out to stage a "still hunt" to defeat any of the regulars on election day next Tuesday. All the candidates now need is just a few votes to make it legal.

Arthur Rosenfeldt, Elmer Rentner and George Wagner, candidates for four-year terms, and Frank D. Powles for two-year term to fill vacancy make up the ticket.

Trustees Rosenfeldt and Rentner are up for re-election, while Wagner is candidate to succeed Cletus Vos, who wishes to retire at the close of his term.

Powles, when elected Tuesday, will fill the vacancy occurring when his brother, Major L. D. Powles entered military service. Major Powles, long a member of the U. S. Army Officers Reserve, was called to active service over a year ago. He is stationed at Wright Field, near Dayton, Ohio.

Other board members are James Stearns and Walter I. Scott.

The six trustees, with George B. Bartlett, president, R. L. Murrie, village clerk, Mrs. Vera Rentner, treasurer, comprise the personnel of village officials.

Policemen William Thienmann and Fred Petersen, and Village Attorney George S. McGaughey are employed by the board of trustees.

NOT AS POOR AS HE'S PAINTED

News of the Boys in Service

Private Melvin Lake who is located at Camp Howze, Texas, has been promoted to Private first class.

Private Carl H. Johnson, who served for seven months with the Ordnance company at Orlando, Fla., Air Base, has been released by the army and has employment at the O. W. Lehmann Chesney farms near Lake Villa. Private Johnson is 44 years old.

Karl Pape, Seaman 2c, writing from the Pacific, says: I have received the Antioch News now for about seven months and have enjoyed every copy. I always read the high school news and the bowling scores. It makes a fellow feel good just to see the names of his friends in the news. We get other papers; but none of them means as much to me as the Antioch News. I want to thank the Legion for what they are doing for us boys. My mother sent me a picture of the Honor Roll and I wish I could get home to see it—it sure looks swell. Well, I'll have to close for now.

Corporal Pete Maroz writes from England via V-mail that he has just received a copy of the News dated Jan. 14. "All but ten men in our company are from the east," writes Cpl. Maroz. "There is no better news than home town news. So far things are O. K. here, the country is beautiful and the people are treating us well. The weather has been good the past month—does not seem like the same country as we had rain here almost every day for a month or so after we came over. Keep 'em rolling," Peter says.

The first step towards becoming a pilot in the Navy's expanding air force was completed this week by 58 cadets who have finished an eight weeks' course of elementary flight and ground training at Northwestern University.

The graduating class constitutes one half of the total enrollment of the school which is conducted under the joint auspices of the university and the War Training Service of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. From Northwestern the fledgling fliers will be assigned to more advanced training schools.

One of the cadets in the graduating class was Winsor Dalgaard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dalgaard of Antioch.

Corporal LeRoy Gutkowsky, A. A. Base, Sarasota, Fla., has been promoted to the rank of Sergeant.

Lieut. Bernard Osmond, who has been in officers' training at Quantico, Va., has been enjoying a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Osmond, and grandfather, Barney Naber. Lt. Osmond will leave tomorrow for California.

B. F. Naber and daughter, Mrs. Lester Osmond and son, Lt. Bernard Osmond, attended the funeral yesterday of Mr. Naber's brother, Henry Naber, 84, who died in St. Agnes hospital at Fond du Lac, Wis., on Saturday. Burial was in Waterford, his former home. Mr. Naber came with his father to Waterford in 1856 (continued on page 5)

Hold Funeral Here For Murry Horton; Lifelong Resident

Death of Pioneer Occurred Monday; Born in Fremont Twp.

Funeral services for Murry Horton, a lifelong resident of Lake county, who would have been 81 had he lived until April 10, died Monday at his home, 554 Parkway avenue, Antioch, were held here yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Strang's funeral home, with the Rev. W. A. MacArthur of the Lake Villa Community church officiating.

Burial was in Hillside cemetery. Pallbearers were friends who had been associated with Mr. Horton while he served as janitor at the Antioch Township High school for 19 years. They were: C. L. Kutil and M. M. Stillson, teachers here; L. O. Bright, former principal; H. C. Reichers, former assistant principal; and George White and Frank B. Kennedy, former members of the board of education.

Born in Fremont Twp.
Mr. Horton was born in Fremont township, the son of John and Caroline Horton. For many years he was engaged in farming in Avon township, but for the past 60 years he had lived at Antioch. In 1919 he accepted the position of caretaker at the local high school where he served until his retirement in 1938. He was one of a family of eight children.

He leaves his wife, Lydia. The couple would have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on next July 25. Also surviving are a son, Earl, and daughter, Mrs. Evah Risch, and a brother, Joseph, all of Antioch. There are six grandchildren and three great grandchildren, besides many other relatives and friends who mourn his passing.

Edwin A. Freund Is Victim of Heart Attack

Edwin A. Freund, 52, brother of Mrs. A. J. McGreal of Antioch, died of a heart attack in Cincinnati, Ohio, on March 30.

Through his frequent visits with relatives here he was well known to many in this community. He was an engineer employed by the War Department.

Besides Mrs. McGreal, he leaves three other sisters: Mrs. Walter J. Freund of McHenry; Mrs. William Burns, Waukegan; and Mrs. Peter H. Freund, McHenry. Two brothers also survive: R. Carl Freund of Cincinnati, and Gerald Freund, formerly of Antioch, who now lives in McHenry.

Mrs. Bartlett Stricken

Mrs. George B. Bartlett, wife of Mayor Bartlett, today was reported to be resting comfortably in St. Theresa hospital where she was taken early Tuesday morning. Stricken suddenly with a violent heart attack just before midnight Monday, Dr. Breakstone and the Antioch Rescue squad were called. For more than three hours the physician and the rescue men worked to revive her. She was then taken in an ambulance to the hospital.

Organize to Put Antioch Over Top in War Bond Drive

Second Campaign to Raise Fighting Dollars for Fighting Men

Organization and complete zoning of Antioch township for a speedy over-the-top effort to raise the community's part of the Second War Loan got under way Tuesday night at a meeting of the various district chairmen at the grade school.

The national quota is 13 billion dollars, and the enormous amount represents nearly 12 per cent of the nation's entire income for a full year.

The township has been zoned into 15 districts for a house-to-house canvass, and salesmen and saleswomen also have been assigned to make a canvass of the various streets in the village.

Otto S. Klass, chairman of war bond drives in this township, has named Attorney Edward C. Jacobs as co-chairman; and Jacobs in turn named the following assistants to serve in the various districts: Herman Holbek, Walter Hills, A. G. Simon, George White, H. A. Smith, of the First National Bank, and J. E. Brook of the State Bank of Antioch, will serve as co-chairmen of the bankers group.

Explains Bonds
A clear explanation of the various types of war bonds that are being offered in the drive was given by Eugene Hotchkiss, Lake county representative of the Chicago Metropolitan War Finance committee. Present also at the meeting was Chas. Steele, of the First National Bank of Waukegan. The Waukegan bank functions as a clearing house for reports on the progress of the drive in this county.

Instructing committee members and salesmen in the importance of attaining quick success in the present war bond drive, Mr. Hotchkiss stressed the fact that this is a "shoot the works" war, winner take all. Victory or defeat in the Battle of Bonds rests on the sales effort put behind it.

The speaker pointed out that the men who are standing up to the flashing bayonets you've never seen, the men who are ducking the screaming bombs you've never heard, the men who are fighting the battles we've never been closer to than the headlines in newspapers—they need something from us on the home front. They need fighting dollars—dollars for more planes, more tanks, more guns.

The slogan for the Second War Bond drive is: "They give their lives, you lend your money."

Chairmen Klass and Jacobs expressed belief that the drive in this community will be highly successful.

PREPARE FOR STATE WIDE AIR RAID TESTS

Citizens Defense Corps Will Have 3rd Simulated Test on April 27

Chicago, April 14—The third in a series of monthly simulated tests that will be climaxed in late July under air raid and surprise conditions of war will be held by citizens defense corps throughout the state on Tuesday, April 27.

Capt. William F. Waugh, chairman of the civil protection division, Illinois State Council of Defense, informed Gov. Green that the mobilization will take place between 7:00 and 7:30 p. m. There will be no blackout and all units will be demobilized at the expiration of the 30 minute period, he said.

The purpose of this month's exercise, Capt. Waugh said, will be to test warning signals, improve communication, and practice operating technique.

Under the plan of operation mobilization will be set into motion with a warning signal to consist of a steady blast for at least two minutes. Defense corps of the state's 646 local councils of defense will mobilize and control centers will route through at least three simulated incidents.

No public participation is called for in this month's exercise, Capt. Waugh said, and all traffic will continue in a normal manner.

The exercises held each month are of a progressive character. Reports from the council's civilian defense directors indicate that corps are operating with greater efficiency since the tests began in February.

The program will be climaxed late in July when all services, equipment and personnel will operate under full emergency conditions.

Thomas Jefferson, Patriot

One hundred and thirty-five years ago, when the republic was young, the general assembly of North Carolina passed a resolution endorsing Thomas Jefferson for another term as president of the United States. Jefferson's response reveals his love of country and his confidence in the American people and their way of life. The young democracy had not degenerated into a one-man government—evidently there were no super-men living in that era. . . . Jefferson wrote:

"I learn with the liveliest sentiments of gratitude and respect your approbation of my conduct in the various charges which my country has been pleased to confide in me at different times, and especially that the administration of our public affairs, since my accession to the chief magistracy, has been so far satisfactory that my continuance in that office, after its present term, would be acceptable to you.

"But that I should lay down my charge at a proper period is as much a duty as to have borne it faithfully. . . . If some termination to the services of the chief magistrate be not fixed by the Constitution, or supplied by practice, his office, nominally for years, will in fact become for life, and history shows how easily that degenerates into an inheritance.

"Believing that a representative government responsible at short periods of election is that which produces the greatest sum of happiness to mankind, I feel it a duty to do no act which shall essentially impair that principle, and I should unwillingly be the person who, disregarding the sound precedent set by an illustrious predecessor, should furnish the first example of prolongation beyond the second term of office."

Control Bureaucracy Now

Advocates of a socialized bureaucracy invariably introduce their schemes as part of broad, benevolent programs that are hard to criticize because superficially they sound so good. Always they are represented as coming direct from the heart of the masses and are therefore an inexorable demand which it is undemocratic to oppose.

Most of these schemes, as their first objective, seek to destroy private ownership and management of basic industries. Basic industries such as mining, electric power and oil are the bulwark of free enterprise. They are easy to attack for the simple reason that they seem remote from the welfare of the butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker. Actually if they should fall under domination of boards and bureaus and patronage-loving politicians, the end of individual liberty for all of us would be in sight. A bureaucracy that controls a people's source of jobs, soon lays a heavy hand on personal freedom.

That the people of the United States want no part of alien bureaucracy is abundantly clear. Robert Watt, a labor leader of great prominence in government, has said: "After this war, I want no gigantic governmental Reconstruction Finance Corporations to finance business and dominate it; and I want no gigantic governmental Works Progress Administration to employ labor and dominate it."

And again, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has warned: "If this country ever gets a system of governmental regimentation, labor will suffer most. Labor, therefore, is deeply interested in the preservation of private business; and labor should everlastingly maintain that the owners and managers of business are entitled to a fair and just return upon their investments."

Americans want to remain free under a regulated capitalistic system, protected by constitutional government. They must not be fooled by the false promises of the get-something-for-nothing philosophers.

Remove the Millstone Now

The Florida National Bank of Jacksonville has been running some striking newspaper advertisements on the necessity for changing the Federal income tax laws to meet present day needs of the taxpayers. One of its recent advertisements said:

"Remember how a few years ago the government solemnly talked about 'Freedom from debt . . . freedom from want . . . freedom from fear, etc.'"

"The 'Freedom's' theory is a great one—but why doesn't Uncle Sam practice it with income taxes? Instead of freeing his taxpayers from debt and fear, the present income tax system perpetuates a peculiar type of peonage because the taxpayer is never out of debt."

"Last year's income taxes hang around his neck like a millstone. Let's adopt the pay-as-you-go plan now and make the 'Freedom's' an actuality rather than a pretty theory."

For Thirty Pieces of Silver

A letter from members of the 750th Tank Battalion, Company A, at Fort Knox, Kentucky, to workers who recently struck in a war industry, said in part:

"We feel deeply hurt to think you would let the boys overseas down. Just what do you think would happen to this country if the boys overseas would sit down, and quit fighting, because they just make $50 a month? We need more fighting equipment. What do you Americans want? More money now and slavery later, or less money and freedom? Just think how some of your sons and brothers over there would feel if they knew how you were selling them out, and that's what you are doing when you stop production."

There is a Bible story of a sell-out for 30 pieces of silver. Read it.

WILMOT

Mr. and Mrs. John Blackman were called to Kenosha on Friday to the home of Clarence Blackman, an only brother, who was taken very ill.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Otto are the parents of a son, Karl Timothy, born April 8, at the Kenosha hospital. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Freeman have returned to their home in Wilmot after six months spent in southern Illinois.

Mrs. Winn Peterson and daughter, Gloria Mae of Kenosha are visiting at the home of Mrs. Louis Rausch for several days. Gloria Mae returned to Kenosha on Friday and Mrs. Peterson is remaining until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lewis who have spent several months in Oklahoma and the western states, have returned to Wilmot and are staying with Mrs. Bessie Burroughs.

The Wilmot Mother's club held its regular meeting at the school on Tuesday afternoon. It was voted to donate a certain sum to the American Red Cross. A committee was appointed to arrange for a card party to be held Tuesday evening, April 20, at the school. The committee being Misses June Cardell, Anna Kronke and Mrs. Alex Shubert.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Voss announce the engagement of their daughter, Avis Irene, to Dale N. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Jackson of Elgin, Ill. No date has been set for the wedding.

The garage owned by Martin Jerde burned to the ground on Tuesday night about 11:00 o'clock. The fire started from unknown origin and had progressed to rapidly before it was discovered that the Wilmot and Silver Lake fire departments concentrated on saving the house and Leland Hegeman's barn which were situated directly in front and in back of the burning building. Mr. Jerde who is employed at the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company at Burlington, had a company truck, his own car and a trailer in the garage. The truck and car were saved but the trailer burned and damages were estimated at about $500.00.

THE 2nd WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

How to invest in "fighting dollars!"

"Lend more money to help carry on the fight!" That's what our Government is asking you and all the rest of us . . . asking us to lend it 13 billion fighting dollars in the next few weeks! 13 billion extra dollars—over and above all regular War Bond buying!

We can do it . . . we must do it . . . we owe it to our boys who are fighting overseas. For their sake . . .

We've got to build more ships! We broke all records last year when we built 8 million tons of shipping. This year, we're building 13 million tons . . . but still it is not enough!

We've got to do more fighting! More and more of our soldiers and sailors are going into actual combat . . . requiring more equipment, and more supplies. We cannot let them down!

We've got to buy more War Bonds! To help pay for the things our fighting men need . . . we've got to buy War Bonds as we never bought them before!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of men and women who are giving their time and effort to the 2nd War Loan Drive. Welcome these patriotic workers if they call . . . buy from them all the War Bonds you can!

Better still, don't wait for them! Go to your nearest bank, post office, or War Bond booth, and invest more fighting dollars now! It's the least you can do to help those who are fighting and dying overseas!

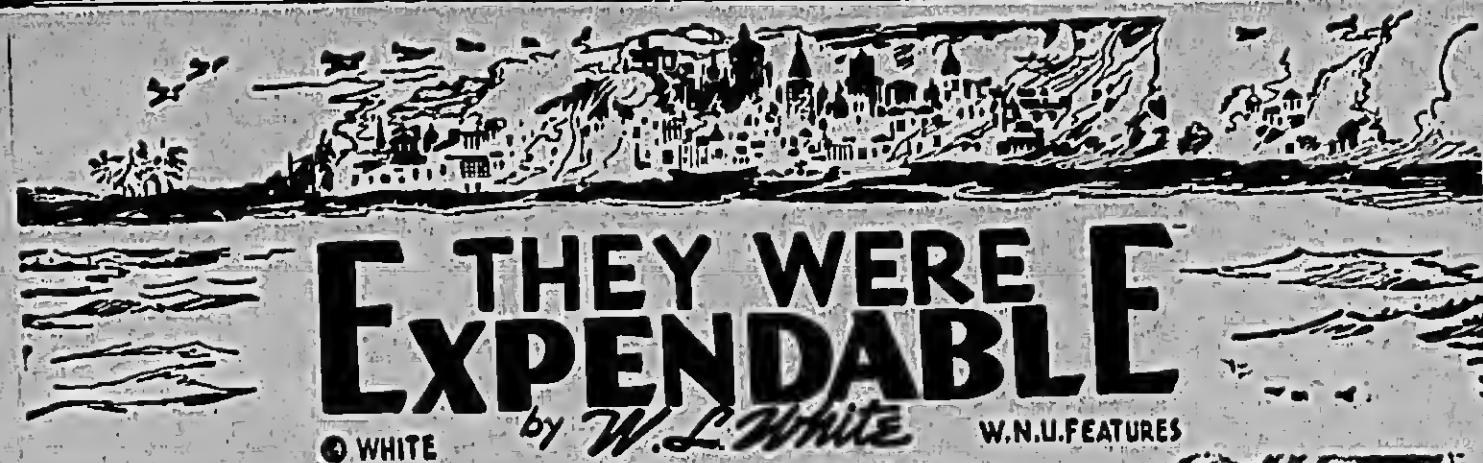

Among the 7 different kinds of U. S. Government securities is one that exactly fits your own particular purse and requirements. These securities are the finest investment in the world . . . far home! For your Country's sake . . . for your own sake . . . invest all you can!

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES . . . YOU LEND YOUR MONEY!

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—The story of their part in the battle for the Philippines is told in the following chapters by four of the five naval officers who are all that is left of Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron 3. They are: Lieut. John Bulkeley (now Lieutenant commander), squadron commander; Lieut. R. B. Kelly; and Ensign Anthony Akers and George E. Cox Jr. (The fifth officer, Lieut. Henry J. Brantingham, has since arrived from Australia). The squadron, hand-picked by Bulkeley from volunteers, also moved to the Philippines in the fall of 1941. They knew trouble was coming, but the attack of December 7 was as much of a surprise to them as to anyone, because they thought the Philippines would be attacked first.

Lieut. Kelly, second-in-command, to whom Bulkeley delegated the task of telling most of the story, describes his preparations for war, hearing about secret operations orders, his work in the Officers' Club in Manila on the eve of Pearl Harbor, and a thick steak with all the trimmings. After receiving his orders from Bulkeley the next afternoon, he took three of the boats to Mariveles, the submarine tender for provisions and fuel. When they got there they found the tender had been ordered away. So they set up makeshift headquarters in native huts at Sisman Cove.

CHAPTER II—Lieut. Kelly continues: Refueling the boats from drums was a dangerous job. They found water and rust in the gas, but didn't know then that the gas had been sabotaged. Kelly had a badly gashed finger, but couldn't take time to go to the hospital. Lieut. Bulkeley describes the first big air raid.

CHAPTER III—Lieut. Kelly tells how he was sent to a tunnel hospital on Corregidor, where he met Peggy, a nurse. Survivors from the sinking of a shipload of refugees were brought to the hospital. Patients from Manila were also moved into the tunnels, and Kelly learned from them how badly the war was going.

CHAPTER IV—A member of a tank crew trapped by the Japs concludes his story of their escape as told to Lieut. Kelly in the tunnel hospital on Corregidor. Kelly tells of the heroism of the hospital staff, and especially of the nurse, Peggy, during a severe bombing. Ensign Akers tells some of his experiences just before Manila fell.

CHAPTER V—Ensign Akers continues, and Ensign Cox adds his story of the fall of Manila. The PT boats pulled away safely from the blazing city. Lieut. Kelly tells how he spent New Year's Eve in the hospital, while Lieut. Bulkeley discussed with the Admiral a plan of escape to China. Bulkeley tells how two of the boats, the 31 and the 34, went out into Subic Bay on a night raid.

CHAPTER VI—Lieut. Bulkeley continues: When the 31 boat didn't show up, Bulkeley, in the 34 boat, sneaked up to torpedo a cruiser. Later they learned what happened to the 31 boat. When the sabotaged gas clogged the engines they drifted and landed on a reef. All but two of the men from the 31 crew finally returned. Lieut. Kelly persuaded the doctor to let him out of the hospital and went out on patrol. They broke up a Jap landing party, then captured a landing force.

CHAPTER VII—Lieut. Kelly continues: They captured a Jap captain and one of his men. Meanwhile the Japs, tired of being heckled by PT boats, sacrificed another ship as bait. But two of the original six torpedo boats had also been lost so far.

CHAPTER VIII

"When we went out that night," said Bulkeley, "we didn't dream we were to take our final crack at the Japs off Bataan. I took two boats—Kelly in the 34, riding myself with Akers in the 35—to see if we couldn't bag one of the Jap destroyers which the army could see in Subic Bay. They'd been driven far back, but from the highest ridge of the Bataan mountains they could still look down into Subic with their 20-power binoculars.

"But the admiral had said we weren't to go into the bay. We must coax them outside. The Japs had the bay's rim lined with guns, and it would be suicide. We got outside of Subic about eleven o'clock. All according to plan, Kelly hid his 34 boat in a cove just outside the bay, while I went into the entrance and raised a little hell—fired my machine guns so they could see the tracers, hoping a Jap destroyer would follow me out, whereupon Kelly was to come out of the cove and lam a couple of torpedoes into their engine room. It didn't work. The Japs had had all they wanted of us. But just as I was about to leave, I saw from the entrance the outline of a big ship—tied to Olongapo dock."

"She was a big one," said Akers, "maybe 10,000 tons. A tanker, we learned the next day. So we turned back, sneaked toward her—there was no fire on us yet—and cut loose two torpedoes. By the time they exploded, we had cleared the mouth of the bay. But from the mountains of Bataan the army watched her burn all night, and in the morning there she was, sunk at her dock."

"They were our last torpedoes fired in defense of Bataan," said Bulkeley. "Since December 7 we had probably sunk a hundred times our own combined tonnage in enemy warships. While we'd lost two of our six boats, neither had been hit by the enemy—both had gone aground in the dark. For every man in our combined crews, we'd already probably killed or drowned ten Japanese, and our casualties to date were only one man wounded. We were to lose more men later, and all our boats but the Japs were to pay at almost the same rate."

"On the way back I realized that we had fired our last torpedoes, except those we would need to fill our tubes for the Puh to Chinó." And we had just about enough gas to get us there, with hardly a barrel to spare. If we were ever to make the run, we must make it soon. And it was getting plain that we couldn't do much more for Bataan, which was on its last legs.

"I can tell you about the army," said Cox. "I used to get bored at Sisman Cove and take trips to the front—sometimes up into the outposts. There were a lot of men in uniform on Bataan, but the front-line fighting soldiers consisted, first, of about two thousand Americans, well seasoned and good fighters. Then, about twelve hundred Filipino Scouts—equally well trained and equally good. Lastly, they had in the fighting line about twenty-seven thousand Filipino trainees—young kids who had never worn a uniform until a few weeks before the war started."

"Their officers were equally untrained. Toward the end, it was grotesque. Tough, experienced American Regular Army privates would be giving orders to Filipino generals."

"Those two thousand Americans and the twelve hundred Scouts were the only real fighting men on Bataan, and they were run ragged—every time the Japs punched a hole in the line, these experienced troops would have to be thrown in to plug it—everywhere at once."

"Then there was the item of equipment—no spare parts. They had a few tanks left, with their treads falling off. A missing fan belt would put an entire tractor out of the war—for want of a tread, a tank would be junk by the roadside."

"I drove an ambulance in France in 1940, and in some ways it was the same story on Luzon. The same lack of equipment, planes, communications. The same disorganization—everybody falling back, or maybe fighting without hope just because it was a habit. Both in France and Luzon you threw the book away—and did what you could with what you had."

"But there were differences. In France it was 'Scram, the Germans are coming, we can't hold 'em!'—and they'd drop their arms and run. 'But on Bataan, even when they knew in their hearts it was hopeless, they'd say, 'Damn it, we're not backing up to Corregidor—we're going to hold them here!' They kept on fighting even down to the last ditch, when they were so tired they staggered—and I have watched them stagger—and when they surrendered, it was with their arms in their hands."

"That's more or less how it looked to us on March 1," said Kelly, "which is a day I'll never forget. It started off in a curious way—it seemed that General MacArthur wanted to take a ride on one of our boats with Bulkeley. We felt honored, but I couldn't just understand why the General would choose a time like this for a pleasure trip. Still, orders were orders, and even the air force got theirs—or rather what was left of it, which was exactly four decrepit P-40's patched together from the pieces of many others."

"This proud American air force guaranteed us air superiority over that area of the bay while the General was out on the water. The area was only four square miles, and the time only half an hour—about all the superiority this pathetic air force was able to guarantee. While the General was having his ride I was worried—suppose something had come up which might upset our dash to China? I could see the men didn't understand it either, and were starting to speculate and gossip."

"But the General explained everything when he returned from the ride, by officially presenting Bulkeley with the order decorating him with the D.S.C. We'd known about it for weeks, but this, it seemed, was the official presentation. He also congratulated the men on the fine work they had done, and handed each a package of cigarettes. It wasn't until that night that Bulkeley told me all this had been camouflage. For that morning the General had called him in and told him of the new plan. China was out for us, all right. Because Washington had made MacArthur Commander in Chief for all the Pacific and ordered him to leave. A submarine had been suggested, but MacArthur had said Bulkeley was the only commanding officer he knew in whom he had complete confidence—he was sailing with Buck. But he'd wanted to make a trial run first, and so added the little ceremony to allay the suspicions of the men. Because we were leaving Bataan in absolute secrecy and very soon."

"Of course to us this means that the China trip—our last hope of seeing America and escaping death, or a Japanese prison—was gone forever. Now the MTBs were like the rest here in the islands—the expendables who fight on without hope to the end. So far as we knew, we would now finish up the war in the southern islands, when the Japs got around to mopping up the last American resistance there."

"But the General explained everything when he returned from the ride."

"And yet I was curiously glad. Mostly, I think, it was because of Peggy. I wasn't guilty any more. Now we both had our duty to do here in the Philippines. Of course I would never see her again—her job was here in Corregidor, and mine would be down in the southern islands. But our end would be the same. We were both expendable now. I wasn't running out on her and I felt a lot better."

"The minute we knew we were to leave Bataan soon," continued Lieutenant Kelly after a pause, "we got to work on the four boats. We knew the trip would be tough, and the boats were old now. The engines had had double the number of hours' service without their customary thorough overhaul and retuning, so they were making half their original speed."

"We planned to scrape the bottoms and overhaul their struts, but this was done for only three. My boat's turn was last, and meanwhile it was used for patrol."

"Overhauling these motors without any replacement parts was a terrible job. For instance, any tank-town garage which overhauls a silver-back in the States always replaces the gaskets with new ones. Only we didn't have any. Or any sealing compound. So those old gaskets had to be carefully removed, handled as gently as though they were precious lace, and laid back in place when the motors were re-assembled."

"How much gas could we carry? We experimented—put down planks on those 34-inch plywood decks to strengthen them, and finally decided we could take a chance on piling twenty of those fifty-gallon drums or each boat."

"Naturally the crews got curious about all these preparations. Since we knew so much about what the Japanese were doing across the bay, we assumed their means for finding out about us were equally good. Anyway, Bulkeley and I had decided that there is only one way of keeping a valuable secret during a war: don't tell it yourself."

"But we had to tell the men something. So we said maybe, after we had exhausted all our gas here on Bataan, we would head down for Cebu in the southern islands. Cebu, where there was plenty of food and more torpedoes, and where they had the most beautiful and languorous girls on the islands, and plenty of gasoline."

"We painted it as a golden spot. Only Bulkeley and I knew that when we got to Cebu we would be doomed—there was no gasoline there and only a little in Mindanao. We could never hope to get to Australia."

"But then there were the two correspondents—Clark Lee and Nat Floyd of the New York Times, and also Colonel Wong. They knew about the Chinese trip because the Admiral had authorized them to go with us. So we told them yes, we were still going to China, but we didn't know when—maybe not for a long time—and advised them if they had any other chance to get out, by all means to take it. Meanwhile we kept on the boats all that landing-gear equipment we had assembled for the China trip—so if any hint of it had leaked out to the crew, they would think it was still on."

"Meanwhile MacArthur had told Bulkeley that Bataan would fall shortly, and Corregidor would go soon after—if it didn't get help from the States immediately. No help was being sent. Apparently it couldn't be gotten to us. Then the Japs could mop up the southern Philippines."

"It was a grim picture for us. But here was our last big job. MacArthur was the brains of the organization—the only general who could take that territory back. The whole allied defense depended on getting him to Australia."

"Bulkeley was reporting to him every other day, but MacArthur refused to set a date for leaving—he wanted to stay as long as he could. At this time the boys on Bataan were back in their strongest positions—also their last-ditch defense line—and the Japs had about all they wanted monkeying with this line, and were waiting for reinforcements. But when news came that their General Yamashita was on his way with many transports, braggling he would capture MacArthur within a month, our departure date was set for March 15."

"But to keep the men occupied and also to keep our secret, we went right on with plans for developing our shore base at Sisman Cove. We installed a good cook's galley, fixed up the mess hall, screened in everything, as though we hoped to live there for months."

"We even took all our clothes off the boats and moved them into the nipa huts ashore."

"On the fourth of March there came a nice break for me. Peggy got me word that she had been transferred to Little Baguio hospital on Bataan, relieving one of the girls who had been working too long under fire, and I got the idea of inviting her down to our base forchow and to spend the evening. Dr. Nelson, who had been looking after my hand, was also on Little Baguio, and I invited him and his girl friend, too."

"You should have seen my ship perk up when I told them. The skipper was going to bring a girl aboard! They had the ship all spit and polish, ready for the big event. My cook, Reynolds, and the Filipino mess boys were tickled pink. They were going to show the army!"

"You see the week before I'd gone over to Little Baguio—I'd had only breakfast and arrived on foot late in the afternoon for my dressing, to spend the night and walk back. But they told me, regretfully of course, of a new ruling: rations were tightening—they were down to dried fish, plain rice, and one slice of bread—so absolutely no visitors could get food at the hospital. So I went to bed supperless, got up, watched them eat breakfast—they said how sorry they were they couldn't offer me any—hiked back all those miles over the hills, and at nine o'clock, sitting at our own mess table, ate seventeen hot cakes as fast as Reynolds could turn them out of the pan."

"Now their one idea was to show the army what real navy hospitality can be. It's true Peggy brought the coffee—we were out of that—but they rustled the rest. It started off with fruit cocktail, then a real pot roast of fresh meat with brown gravy, and in this a whole can of mushrooms, which they'd been hoarding for some big occasion. Then rice and canned peas and beans, a delicious apple pie, and then coffee like only we can make in the navy. There was never such a dinner. Then we sat and talked, while the little waves lapped along the cove."

"I told Peggy I wanted to see her again, and soon. She said they were keeping her very busy, but she might get a night off on the fifteenth or before. There was no way I could call her, so she said she'd get to the signal-corps field telephone and ring me up about six o'clock on the eleventh, when we could make a definite date."

"I asked her if she couldn't make it sooner, and she said of course she wanted to, but didn't see how she possibly could. I wanted to tell her why I wanted it sooner. Then I stopped myself. Because in a war you don't tell anybody. Not anybody. And if they have any sense, and Peggy had plenty, they understand this and don't want to be told."

"So instead we talked about the war, and how they were low on quinine now—just had enough to give the worst malaria cases a light slug which would last only a short time—and how tired the soldiers were, how uncertain everything looked."

"It's uncertain for us in the navy, too," I said. "One of these days even I am liable to disappear, without telling you good-bye."

Steel Industry's Graphite Use
Most graphite is a low-grade powder suitable for paint pigments, stove polish and foundry facings. Aristocrat of graphites is the large flake Madagascar variety. Flake graphite is needed by the steel industry for furnace crucibles and stoppers for the giant ladles that pour molten steel. Although Madagascar has a deep, 400-mile belt of this premium grade, United States stocks were restricted by rationing as early as 1939.

NEW DISCOVERY FOR MASTITIS

Due to Streptococcus Agalactiae
Here is good news for every farmer who has mastitis in his herd. About ninety per cent of all mastitis, or Garget, is caused by Streptococcus agalactiae. The new discovery, Beebe G-Lac, (Tyrothricin) consists of Gramicidin and Tyrocidin. Beebe G-Lac stops the action of Streptococcus agalactiae. If mastitis, due to this microbe, is cutting into your milk production... if your best dairy cows are in danger—act now! Get Beebe G-Lac. You'll be amazed at the results. Beebe G-Lac is easy to inject into the test canal. Beebe G-Lac does not work. Don't let mastitis (due to Streptococcus agalactiae) rob you of your profits. Get Beebe G-Lac today.

MASTITIS TESTING SERVICE
Let us arrange laboratory tests of milk samples from your cows. Only 15¢ per sample tested. Ask us for details. No obligation.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

Antioch, Illinois
During recent weeks attendance at Sunday morning worship has steadily increased. This is indicative of growing interest in spiritual values. It is evidence that men and women are finding spiritual fortitude and moral certainty to be necessities in these times when moral bankruptcy and political, social and economic uncertainty stalks ruthlessly over every land. Therefore, it is with a deep sense of gratitude and humility we approach Passion Week, to live again the experiences of our Master during those days fraught with eternal issues.

On Palm Sunday (next Sunday) we hope to enter triumphantly upon these days laden with great personal spiritual possibilities. At the eleven o'clock service we will endeavor to catch the spiritual significance of that memorable day. As a part of that service a number of children will be dedicated to Christ and His church by baptism. Those with children to be baptized please arrange with the minister.

At 8:00 P. M. on Good Friday we will have our annual Lighted Cross Communion service. We invite all, regardless of race or creed, to join in this service.

Easter Sunday the choir will present special Easter music. We will also receive a number of new members into the church. Those wishing to unite with us on confession of faith, or by transfer from another denomination please communicate with the minister. If the church of your choice is not here we will welcome you into our fellowship. If you are a member of the Methodist church elsewhere you owe it to the church and to the community to transfer to this church. In any case, "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 11.

The Golden Text was, "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations" (Psalm 67: 1, 2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; Learn to do well; Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord; though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land" (Isaiah 1: 16, 18, 19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "A sinner can receive no encouragement from the fact that Science demonstrates the unreality of evil, for the sinner would make a reality of sin, would make that real which is unreal, and thus heap up 'wrath against the day of wrath.' The basis of all health, sinlessness, and immortality is the great fact that God is the only Mind; and this Mind must be not merely believed, but it must be understood." (P. 339).

One May Be

Failure is by no means the result of dullness. One may be too intellectual to win in some endeavors.

The Observer

A few years ago the president was telling the American people that a supreme court justice over 65 years old had outlived his usefulness as an office-holder. The court, you will remember, believed in a government by law administered in accordance with the constitution. That was their "fault," except that some of the jurists were over 65. Now, the president's uncle, 80-year-old Frederick Delano is setting up the "cradle-to-grave" freedom from want program. Just another New Deal inconsistency.

The people of the United States have responded patriotically and nobly to all demands of government in an effort to bring about speedy victory and save lives of men in service who face death every minute of the day and night. They want to get on with the war. They are more interested in winning the war than in winning votes for a fourth term for the incumbent of the White House.

It is believed that the issues of the 1944 presidential campaign will involve debt, taxation, retrenchment in government expenditures, regimentation, bureaucracy, mal-administration and the preservation of the American economic, social and political systems, as against New Deal socialism and internationalism. There is strong belief that the President would be defeated for a fourth term, regardless of the status of the war next year, although he has now the necessary machinery to effect his re-nomination.

An Antioch taxpayer writes to the Observer: "Did you notice how well the schools were posted showing where to vote at the two recent school elections? Also the front-row polling booths? Oh, well, it saves time in counting ballots. Incidentally, why was it necessary to schedule four separate elections within one month? If it can be done according to law why not streamline elections, especially in rural areas, thus saving time and the taxpayers' money?"

Harold Ickes has announced that fuel oil rationing might be dropped next winter. That is entirely possible—next year is election year. The oil problem has been one of administration and transportation, not of supply. Harold expects to be working for the fourth term for F. D. R. and you can bet your old dirty sock a way will be found by one means or another to ease the fuel oil situation. Other rationing programs will be less drastic, too. That's our guess.

Familiar Pattern
Louis P. Lochner, a man who watched the German scene for twenty-one years, with a newsman's perspective, recently wrote a book—"What About Germany?" A significant paragraph appears in one of the early chapters. Here it is: "Soon after the Nazis had entrenched themselves, Goebbels made a revealing boast: 'We availed ourselves of the instrumentalities of democracy to put democracy out of business.' And that was confirmed over and over. Hitler began by asking for four years, and the best non-Nazi Germans were unworried, thinking he could be swept out at the end of that time. But once in power, he had no idea of not staying."

Vice President Henry A. Wallace, good-willier, sojourning in Latin-American countries, told the people of Panama: "Whenever a people are oppressed by things, that people is an easy prey to the theft of its liberties. A tyrant needs no greater alliance than an alliance with hunger." Well,

W. J. WATERS, 67, DIES IN CHICAGO

W. J. Waters, 67, long a summer resident at Loon Lake, died Friday at his Chicago home on Montrose avenue of a heart attack. He had been ill for several months.

Before his retirement, due to ill health, Mr. Waters was a master plumber, operating his business in Chicago. He is survived by his wife, Sarah, who before her marriage was Sarah Sheehan, sister of Herbert Sheehan of this community.

Funeral services were held Monday at St. Mary's of the Lake Catholic church, and burial was in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Friends from Antioch attending the service were Mrs. Maud Hurlgen, Miss Mabel Brogan and Mrs. Frank Hunt.

The New Deal's starry-eyed professors planned scarcity and the prostitution of plenty is beginning to bear fruit, as evidenced by the many rationing programs now in effect. Planned hunger in countries that have always known oppression may be useful as a tool of tyrants. New Dealers just wouldn't be satisfied until they tried it in America. Well, it's here—and it does not seem to be helping to advance the fourth term for the present occupant of the White House. Americans are not swine.

Well, it's been snowing a little bit this week, on and off—just for a change. Every once in a while the other eye, it would look as if somebody upstairs was shaking an old-fashioned "feather tick"—one with a leak in it—out of the window. And then it would quit for a while, as if to say, "I was only fooling!" And then it would start in again. Reminded us of the little boy who was swinging on the door, and his mother told him either to come in or stay out. In other words, are we done with winter yet, or ain't we?

We met a neighbor of ours the other night who was going home with his little gasoline scooter. He'd just been down to have his tires inspected. So far, they've overlooked those rubber tired baby buggies. We have not seen any of those being taken in to be inspected—yet.

We got hold of a copy of the Great Lakes bulletin not long ago, and noticed something kind of interesting that we hadn't seen anywhere else that we can recall—a synopsis of each of the current "funnies," telling what the "folks" like Dagwood & Blondie, Harold Teen, Skeezix, and so on are doing these days—just like news from home. We'll betcha that's a popular feature of eprapheth ttaa ular feature of the paper, too. . . . It struck us as a pretty well edited sheet all around . . . congrats.

TIME THINS RANKS OF CIVIL WAR VETS; ONLY 24 IN ILLINOIS

Illinois furnished more than a quarter of a million Union soldiers during our Civil War. For many years thereafter, the "boys who wore the blue" were in the forefront of the State's political, social and economic life. Their great fraternal order, the Grand Army of the Republic, once had nearly thirty-three thousand members in Illinois, and active posts in every community.

Time was the only foe that could make the Grand Army lower its colors. With the recent death of Major Albert Gage, of Cook county, there are now just twenty-four living Civil War veterans in Illinois.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Military motorcycles, for couriers, for speeding light guns from one section to another, are an important part of America's mechanized army. Many are equipped with sidecars for use of staff officers. They cost from $100 to $450.

We need thousands of these small maneuverable machines in our Army today. You and your neighbors, all buying War Bonds and Stamps, can help buy them for the Army. Invest at least ten percent of your income every payday in War Bonds and Stamps and become a member of the patriotic "Ten Percent Club." It is rapidly becoming the largest club in the world.

Timely Hints on Asparagus Culture

(By Lawrence Dunford)

(Student Voc. Ag. Dept. A. T. H. S.)

One of the earliest and most flavorful of spring vegetables is asparagus. It is easy to grow and, once established, is the most permanent of garden crops. Properly cared for, a bed will last for many years, furnishing fresh vegetables from early spring when the first shoots are ready until about July first.

For the small garden, it is advisable to buy strong one-year-old roots of one of the rust-resistant Washington strains developed by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is entirely possible to grow asparagus from seed but it involves considerable work and delays results. Any reliable seed house or asparagus grower can supply plants, and the cost of the few needed in a family garden is nominal. From 60 to 70 roots will be enough for a 100 foot row.

In the early spring, dig a trench 15 inches deep in a well drained part of the garden away from the section that is dug every year for annual crops. Put in a 3-inch layer of well rotted manure and cover it with about 4 inches of rich soil or compost. Place the plants on this bed about 18 inches apart with the roots well spread out and cover them with about 2 inches of soil, packing it firmly around them so that the level of the trench is about 6 inches below the surface. As the shoots appear, stir the soil in the trench lightly to destroy all weeds, and work in enough additional soil to cover the shoots. Repeat cultivating and covering process until trench is filled in level with the rest of the ground, by which time the roots are well established. However, no shoots should be cut before the second or third year. After that they may be harvested as long as the season lasts, that is, until they become too slender to use.

As summer advances, allow the late stalks to grow into tall, feathery plants that store up nourishment for the next year's shoots. Be sure to get rid of all weeds before this growth begins, because it should not be disturbed.

Movies Show T. B. Control

(By Clare Sieben)

Tuesday afternoon, April 6, the student body was called together for a movie on Tuberculosis. The movie was shown by Miss Orpha White, secretary of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association. Miss White told the students the importance of locating the source of tuberculosis and of controlling it. She explained that these things would be in the two films she would show.

The first film, entitled "Another to Conquer," showed, through the use of an Indian family, how one person infected with the disease may infect other members of his family. The second film brought a little humor on the subject, by a mythical talk with a tuberculin germ. This film was entitled "Goodbye Mr. Germ." The two films familiarized the students with Tuberculosis, its prevention, course, and what can be done to control it.

Antioch F. F. A. Youth Wins In Public Speaking

William Dow, a Junior of the Antioch Township High School, placed second to win a silver medal in the Section III Future Farmer Public Speaking contest which was held at Elgin, Ill., on Thursday evening of last week.

A contestant from Harvard, Ill., who was also last year's winner, won over Dow by a slight margin. Dow placed third last year.

Dow spoke on the subject, "A Practical Farm Philosophy."

He was accompanied to Elgin by his instructor and coach, C. L. Kuttel, Richard Wells, and James Crichton.

Talking "Shop"

(By Billie May Runyard)

Chances are two to one that you've never heard much mentioned about one of the most interesting courses offered in this school. It's not because we're ashamed of it either, the fact is, this department puts out products that would surpass the majority of their "store-boughten" likenesses. Just in case you're wondering, I'm talking about the little publicized Industrial Arts Course—the "shop" branch in particular.

"Shop" is one of the most popular, if not the most popular course here at school, among the boys. Of course, it's open to girls, too, but at present it has none of the weaker (and that's debatable) sex working amid various lathes, squares, saws and mortise joints.

Upper and lower classmen alike are eligible for shop work. As Freshmen and Sophomores, students take one semester of drawing before they are permitted into the shop rooms. Their first few hours are devoted to simple tasks, which require no special skill, until the student's aptness and ability is determined by our Industrial Arts teacher, Mr. Stilson, who then suggests projects according to the capacity of the person.

Upperclassmen have a choice of either a year of drawing or a full year of shop. Desks, as projects, are quite popular among the advanced group. A "close second" is found in coffee tables.

M. M. Stilson has been training boys in this field for sixteen years.

If you could see, as I did, the work done by his students you'd feel quite a surge of respect for the shop instructor, those he guides, and their handiwork.

SHOULD WE PLANT A VICTORY GARDEN?

(By Lawrence Dunford)

No, you don't have to plant a victory garden if you don't want to, but you'll only be helping Hitler if you don't. Sure there's work to it, but what's a little work as long as you can be free and happy, and feel that you're helping the soldiers while you are doing your bit in the garden? While working in your garden, think of the soldiers who have been fighting all day in the hot sun or in the cold lands.

Yes, we all want to crush Hitler by buying War Bonds and Stamps and raising a Victory Garden. With food rationed families must have more good food. This way you have your own and it will be fresh and hold all the vitamins and minerals needed by the body.

You should all plant a Victory Garden. You'll be glad you did and will wish you had a chance to plant more than you did.

Gym Classes Follow Victory Corps Program

(By Betty Husscher)

The High School gym classes have started a Victory Corps program which follows in some ways, the training given in the armed forces. The purpose of the program is to make the pupils physically fit to undertake the tasks they may be called upon to assume in the near future.

The students do different types of calisthenics and play games such as baseball, speedball, and basketball.

Marching is another thing learned. The purpose of this instruction is to teach a few fundamental commands to enable instructors to move the groups more quickly. Miss Reynolds hopes to have an obstacle course erected.

Most of this program is a continuation of physical education work done in previous years.

STUDENT COUNCIL PLANS FOR VISITING DAY

(By Peg Harvey)

Eighth grade visiting day was discussed at the April 8 meeting of the Student Council. A committee of five upperclassmen was picked to take care of all the arrangements: Seniors—Clara Wurster, Earl Brixen and Tod Maplethorpe; Juniors—Sammy Klass and Edna Pedersen. The plans made up by this committee are to be handed in for approval by the entire Student Council.

A "Big Brother and Big Sister" idea is to be handled by the Juniors. The tours of the school are to be handled by upperclassmen with Seniors getting the preference.

Marksmanship Movies Will be Brought to Defense Rifle Ranges

The Lake County Council of Defense, department of Marksmanship, under the direction of Robert J. Spahr, chairman, is making arrangements through the National Rifle Association, Washington, D. C., whereby it will be able to show movies pertaining to the instruction in rifle shooting as taught in their classes. These movies will be shown at the rifle ranges of the various divisions on dates which will be announced later.

The Marksmanship Department, through the various rifle club divisions, is maintaining schools at Waukegan, Libertyville and Deerfield, which are open to the public. Each course of instruction is for a period of six weeks. The classes meet once a week during this period. It is considered particularly desirable that the younger men in the 17 to 20 year bracket enroll in these courses, the defense council states, as they will have valuable training in rifle shooting prior to going into the service.

The only requirement for the enrollee is that of citizenship. Both men and women are welcome. There is a charge made to the students of these classes of $4.00. This charge is to cover the cost of ammunition and materials which are expended during the course of instruction. The students are furnished with all necessary equipment, including the rifles, shooting gloves and shooting coats. It is not necessary that they own or have any equipment, whatsoever.

Application blanks for these classes can be secured from the following places: Lake County Council of Defense, Room 102, County Building, Waukegan, Ill.; Richard Manning, 201 Lincoln Ave., Waukegan; Highland Park City Hall; Robert J. Spahr, 944 Ridgewood Drive, Highland Park, and James Flagg, 404 W. Austin Ave., Libertyville.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U-Boat Warfare Takes 'Turn for Worse'; New Wedge Driven Into Rommel's Lines As Allies Continue Furious Air Attack; Morgenthau Outlines Stabilized Currency

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Map shows Allied progress in the campaign to oust Axis forces from North Africa. Hard on the heels of Marshal Rommel, "The Fox," was the British Eighth army, under Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery. After a week's pause, during which Montgomery brought up troops and supplies, the Eighth army stormed Rommel's improvised defenses at the Wadi el Akarit. Chief coastal passes, where the Americans fought hot engagements, are near El Guettar, Maknassy and Fondouk.

TUNISIA:

Fight to Meet

Action in Tunisia continued with Lieut. Gen. George Patton's Second American Army corps fighting for a junction with British forces at Gabes. Thousands of mines blocked the American advance. Sappers kept busy clearing the fields and later American tanks rumbled into action. In their bid to prevent an American and British junction, the Axis tanks thrust at the American armored columns. Americans brought up artillery to heavily shell Axis troop and motor concentrations.

Slowly but surely Patton's men advanced along the Gafsa road. Awaiting them at Gabes were the British, who brought up their heavy guns to shell Marshal Rommel's entrenched Afrika Korps along a narrow line in the El Akarit gulch, 15 miles north of Gabes.

At Akarit, "The Fox" was expected to put up another short, stiff fight before falling back toward Sfax. His strategy calls for a series of delaying actions while the Axis completes coastal defenses in Italy.

In northern Tunisia, Nazi troops fell back toward the coastal bastion of Bizerte under the pressure of British troops. Native Arabian Ghomins, armed with knives, have been helping the British with guerrilla activity.

Fighting Before Talk

Gen. Charles DeGaulle's scheduled meeting with Gen. Henri Giraud in North Africa for the purpose of consolidating anti-Axis French in the war has been postponed by request of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

General Eisenhower felt that political discussion in the midst of critical fighting in Tunisia could only have a disturbing effect. Prime Minister Churchill is supposed to have persuaded DeGaulle to await Anthony Eden's report of American reaction to the complicated North African problem.

U-BOAT WARFARE:

Turn for the Worse

Indications that the battle of the Atlantic has taken a turn for the worse were made evident when Secretary of the Navy Knox announced that Allied ship losses were considerably worse during the past month.

Although the secretary gave no estimate of the total number of U-boats the Nazis have used in their spring offensive, he said that "just as we expected and as I said it would be, there are more German subs out there."

The subs are concentrating in the middle Atlantic, along the shipping routes from the United States to England and the Mediterranean. It is predicted that the submarine campaign will become worse before it gets better. Naval experts estimate the Axis will have 700 submarines operating in packs along supply routes this spring.

To counter the U-boat offensive the United States is rushing construction of a fleet of destroyer-escort vessels, smaller than destroyers.

PROMISE:

More Farm Tools

Following a review of the legislative situation with Democratic congressional leaders, President Roosevelt has indicated that, in view of the improved war outlook, he will give more attention to domestic problems. Speaker Rayburn, following the conference, said the "President is going to give his personal attention to the question of having more iron and steel allotted to the manufacture of farm machinery."

RUSSIA:

Sparring for Knockout

In Russia, the two giants continue to spar for positions. Sloughing through marshy swamp-land, hardy Russ engaged German infantry in hand to hand grappling near Novorossisk, gaining ground. Here the Nazis are backed against the Black sea coast.

In the Smolensk region, Russian troops consolidated positions encircling this vital Nazi supply base.

The Germans remain active in the Kharkov district. Two hundred miles to the north, Nazis claimed advances at Orel. Seventy miles to the southeast, German attacks against Red lines on the western bank of the Donets river met stiff resistance, the Russ said.

BOLIVIA:

'Essential Move'

Even before the Bolivian congress had a chance to formally declare war on the Axis, the nation was told that such a move was essential to American solidarity and that the country's productive facilities must be immediately expanded.

When President Enrique Penaranda and his cabinet held a conference with United States Vice President Wallace to discuss a war decree, Brazil was the only South American country at war with Germany and Italy. Bolivia had broken off diplomatic relations with the Axis a year ago.

MONEY:

Stabilized Currency?

Secretary Morgenthau called it "tentative" and John Q. Public thought it looked complicated but everybody realized that it was mighty important — "it" being a comprehensive plan to stabilize post-war world currencies and fix their values in terms of gold.

Actually involved in the program were three major points for working out a system to maintain the monetary solidarity of all the nations of the world at the end of the war:

1. Creation of an international stabilization fund (five billion dollars). This would be set up by the United Nations and associates.
2. Value of currency in each country would be "fixed" in terms of gold.
3. An agreement between all nations to the effect that none would devalue their currencies without consulting the others.

BURMA:

New Air Blows

Strengthened British and American air forces continued to demonstrate their superiority in Burma, raining bombs on Japanese supply lines with emphasis on the important railway from Rangoon to Mandalay.

The RAF dropped 1,000-pound bombs on the Rangoon railway station. Photographs showed destruction of an oil refinery, fires from which were visible for 60 miles. A power house, oil tanks and a distillation building were hit. American fliers scored hits at Mandalay.

NETHERLANDS:

Invasion Spadework?

Reports that "scores of British agents" have been landed on the Netherlands coast and are preparing the way for an Allied invasion have made their way to Dutch circles in London. The reports added that a wave of optimism, accompanied by new outbreaks of sabotage and anti-Nazi attacks was sweeping Holland. The British were said to have been landing parties of two and three bound for the interior.

BANKHEAD BILL:

And Parity

After President Roosevelt had vetoed the Bankhead farm bill (because he believed it "inflationary") supporters of the measure attempted to override the action by a two-thirds vote in congress. First scene of action in this connection was the senate floor where a day-long lively debate resulted in farm bloc members realizing that they could not muster sufficient support to bring this to pass.

These senators then became content to force the bill back to the agricultural committee from whence it could be resurrected whenever the farm bloc felt it had enough votes handy to defeat the President's action.

White House opposition to the measure on the grounds of inflation presented itself because it would prohibit deductions of benefit payments from parity in setting farm price ceilings.

FLYING FORTRESSES:

New Offensive

The American air offensive in Europe has gotten under way.

Fleets of powerful Flying Fortresses have pounded the Renault motor works near Paris, with heavy hits causing great damage among the main buildings and auxiliary plants.

Coming right back, Flying Fortresses flew over Antwerp, bombing the Erla airplane works. These works have been repairing engines for the Nazi Luftwaffe. Buildings were shattered and large fires started.

Swinging at Europe's underbelly, 100 Flying Fortresses dumped their bombs on Naples, splattering 24 ships in the harbor. RAF bombers followed up the attack with another heavy raid. Wharves and the industrial area were left flaming.

Eight bombers and eight fighter planes were lost in the operations.

RUBBER:

Self Sufficiency

Self sufficiency in rubber production for the United States was predicted by William M. Jeffers, rubber director, who expressed belief that the nation will develop a synthetic rubber industry that will free the country from dependency on outside sources in the future.

"There is one very definite forecast I want to make—we'll never again be caught the way we were at the outbreak of war," Jeffers said.

He added that he envisioned a postwar rubber economy independent of any sources outside the United States. He said he viewed the huge natural rubber development in South America as "insurance" against possible shortcomings of synthetic rubber plants in this country.

LOADED DICE:

In Axis Favor?

In the opinion of Adm. William James, British chief of naval information, the "dice are loaded heavily" in favor of the Axis in any Allied attempt to land on the continent of Europe. But, said Admiral James, ways and means could be found "when the time comes."

"We saw at Dieppe, which was a most carefully planned enterprise, how a few well-situated guns on shore can wreck an amphibious operation."

Predicting that there will be no new startling invention to deal with the U-boat problem, he said the submarine menace eventually would be beaten "by the hard unremitting work of all those engaged in protecting our trade."

NATIONAL APATHY:

General Speaks

Army day this year was passed over with little official celebration for the nation's fighting men were too hard at work to stop for festivities. However, one commanding general—Ben Lear of the Second army—took the occasion to score national apathy and lack of aggressiveness in many phases of American life. He called for the end of internal bickering and urged that Americans apply themselves to crushing the enemy. Speaking of the popular dislike of "absenteeism" General Lear declared that this situation is not confined to industry. By this he meant that unless every citizen did his or her part, whatever the job, they were defeating the war effort and were therefore—absentees.

BRIEFS

CUBAN DRAFT: Eight thousand Cubans between the ages of 20 and 25 will shortly be drafted for army service.

TRADE COMPROMISE: Bi-partisan support was seen for a compromise reciprocal trade treaty which would allow American producers the right to seek modification of any agreement with a foreign country.

AIR LINE: Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilding wizard, proposes to build a metal plane that will fly 17,000 miles without stopping.

DAD'S DRAFT: Drafting of dads might be delayed if public opinion forces unmarried youths between 18 and 25 years out of deferred war jobs. Selective Service Director Hershey says.

FIRE OIL: Allied bombers hit the Japanese oil refinery below Rangoon in continuing attacks upon enemy installations in Burma. The Myittha bridge area of the Burmo Road also was raided.

In our school several of the children have been sent home with bad colds or coughs as a precaution against whooping cough and bronchial pneumonia.

Miss Langworthy, our music teacher, came to our school Tuesday and gave us our music lesson. After this we shall call her Mrs. Affeldt. She was married last Saturday. We all wish them a long life full of happiness.

There are only four children who will paint poppy posters. This year many of the children felt that they could not spare the time, because we are behind our schedule due to missing so much school for various reasons, such as the furnace going out of order.

Ile d'Orleans, Quebec, Park
A stretch of land has been set aside on picturesque Ile d'Orleans in La Province de Quebec for a new government park. It was announced by the deputy minister of roads for the province. The park on the St. Lawrence river island, above Quebec City, will face the famous shrine of Ste-Anne-de-Beaupre, known in peacetime as the lodestone of three quarters of a million tourists every year.

Mexico's Oldest Strike
A grudge against a circus provoked recently what is described as Mexico's queerest strike. Merchants of Chihuahua City darkened display windows and electric signs at night as a protest against the dallying in their midst of Circo Beas, one of the oldest of the country's circuses.

They didn't count the cost.

Every American knows the suicide saga of Torpedo Squadron 8. How it lost all 15 planes and all but one of its 30 men in a mission which helped produce our great victory at Midway. It was these boys who found the Jap fleet. Who radioed its position. And without the necessary fighter and high altitude bomber support dove to the attack.

This week the big 2nd War Loan Drive is on! Our country is not asking us to give or even risk our lives. She simply wants us to lend her money. And this 13 billion dollars must be raised during April to assure more torpedo squadrons—more victories like Midway.

It's true we've done a good job so far. But this war is far from won. The Japs are building new airfields in Kiska on American soil. Submarines are sinking our supply ships within sight of our own shores.

It's a long way from Casablanca to Berlin, or Tokio.

While you help your country you will help yourself. Your purchases of War Bonds help retard inflation. They are as safe as your government. And when Victory has been won you will have saved the money you need for a new home, new car, new luxuries.

You may say, "But I've been buying War Bonds. Paying highest taxes. Giving up conveniences." If you think you're doing all you can, recall the last words of Commander Waldron to Squadron 8: "Of course, we will strike regardless of the consequences." Unquestionably answering this new call will mean more self-denial. Giving up more luxuries. Additional inconveniences. But on the hot sands of Tunisia; in the steaming jungles of New Guinea, in that "hell-hole" at Guadalcanal... other men are doing more.

Make your IDLE dollars FIGHTING dollars!

PETER AND JOHN IN GETHSEMANE

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 26:36-46; John 18:10-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation. Matthew 26:41.

The morning of that great day when atonement was made for the sins of all the world was nearly at hand. In the darkness of the night, following the institution of the Lord's Supper, and the words and prayer of our Lord (John 15-17), He and His disciples came to the Garden of Gethsemane. Taking three of His disciples He went deeper into the shadows to pour out before the Father His soul, "exceeding sorrowful even unto death."

It is a sacred scene, and we feel a sense of awe and reverence as we approach it, feeling that we too would prefer to tarry outside the garden, did we not feel that we should try to understand a little better what took place that night.

We are especially concerned with Peter and John, who with James shared our Lord's sorrow up to a point, and then so sadly failed Him.

We note that they had a 1. High Privilege (Matt. 26:36-38). To be asked by Christ to stand by in this crucial hour was to be entrusted with one of the greatest privileges a man could ever know.

As there swept over His holy soul a great tidal wave of sorrow unto death, He wanted and needed their fellowship. As Dr. MacLaren puts it, He "grazed the very edge" of human endurance. "Out of the darkness He reaches a hand to feel the grasp of a friend, and piteously asks these humble lovers to stay beside Him; not that they could help Him bear the weight, but that their presence had some solace in it. His agony . . . they could not bear with Him, but they could watch with Him, and that poor comfort is all He asked."

Undoubtedly they intended to do it. Jesus bore witness that their spirit was willing (v. 41), but in spite of that, and all the boasting of Peter at the table that he would never desert Him, they failed Him in His hour of need. It was

II. Sad Weakness (vv. 39-46). Our Lord's prayer showed great faith in God the Father, the terrific recoil of His soul against being blackened with the burden of sin, and a complete surrender to the Father's will. Here was true denial of self and submission to God, but it was nonetheless an appalling experience for our sinless Lord. So He went back for fellowship with His three trusted friends—and they were asleep.

Jesus recognized that the weakness of the flesh caused them to forget and slumber. We may profit by a little closer scrutiny of the scene. Was it just a physical tiredness? That doubtless entered in, but was not Jesus even more tired than they could possibly be? Was it not rather the weakness of indifference? They did not yet fully believe that their Lord was about to die. That was why they were quickly scattered in unbelief when He did die. This matter was not so serious in their sight, so it was not difficult to yield to the tired body and the deep, quiet darkness, and fall asleep.

We are in much the same position. Danger—grave, spiritual danger—threatens our souls, our families, our nation. We who call ourselves Christians have declared our readiness to stay awake and alert. But we have become at home in this world, the enemy soothes us with the assurance that all is well, time goes on and nothing too serious happens. So, we go to sleep right in the midst of danger, and sleep on even though the Master awakens us again and again.

But now the scene changes. The mob has come to take Christ, and then the sleepy Peter, now much awake, indulges in

III. Foolish Courage (John 18:10-12).

The act of Peter was courageous, even to the point of recklessness. What chance had he against a great armed multitude? It was the natural impulse of a loving heart, but it was misguided and foolish.

What did he think to accomplish—to deliver Jesus from those who would crucify Him? That would have meant no death on the cross and no redemption. The hour for the offering up of the Son of Man as Saviour had come. Peter might have learned that with our Lord in the garden, but then he was asleep. Christ who had hitherto walked right through the crowd of enemies (Luke 4:30), now submitted. In the dark hours of the night He had been prepared to drink this bitter cup (v. 11).

We need to learn from this experience of Peter's lest we make the same mistake. There are all too many in the Church who are asleep as far as its spiritual struggles and opportunities are concerned, who are eager to wield a reckless sword in outward conflict. In their folly and ignorance they do more harm than good, and yet they think they are working for Christ.

Bowling*MAJOR LEAGUE ENDS 1942-43 BOWLING SEASON

Last Friday night saw the last league games rolled in the Antioch Major league. The league will meet for the last time this year on Friday evening for a singles sweepstake.

Final teams standings were:
Team Won Lost Av.
Bernie's Tavern 57 33 919
Antioch Liquor 45 45 901
Antioch Recreation 44 40 896
Antioch Lbr. Co. 43 47 887
Gas and Betty's 42 48 877
Terlap Roofing Co. 39 51 878

Individual honors for high averages for the 90-game route went to Roman Vos, 192; Abe Gerstein, 191; Ed Walters, 190; Elmar Petersen, 186; and Hank Pape, 185. (Other high averages are undetermined until the secretary of the league posts the results as a good many bowlers with high averages have not bowled sufficient games to qualify for prizes.)

In the last wind-up Friday Gus and Betty's sunk the Recreation for three straight. Bill Cooper was high for Gus and Betty's with 612 and Knute Lassen shot 588, which included a 245 game.

This wallop knocked the Rec's out of second place by one game.

The Antioch Liquors took two from Terlap Roofing Co. Abe Gerstein had 571 for the winners.

Roman Vos shot a sizzling 682 on games of 238, 233 and 211, when the Antioch Lumber company lost two to Bernie's. Ed Walters was high for Bernie's with 588.

Tavern League, Monday, April 12. Friedle's Construction team took Nielsen's down for three straight last Monday. Chuck Friedle was high with 546.

Elroy Anderson hit 591 when the Anderson Tavern aggregation took Berghoff's for a big three.

Bud's Tavern won two games from Sorenson's Commandos. Commando Weiss sparked the team to their single win with a 211 game. Art Thompson and Norman Jedele rolled 559 and 554, to put Bud's on top for two games.

Hanke's won two from the Rec's. Ed Kramer was high for Hanke's with 541 and Danny Palaske shot 560 for the Recs.

Little America took two from the Wonder Boys (Dominics.)

Ed Walters shot games of 214-206-230 for a 650 series, within 3 pins of the high individual series of 653 which he set earlier in the season; when Haling's managed to win one game from Charles Corners. B. Koske hit 584 and Kerwin Stratton 553 for the winners.

City League, Thursday, April 8. The R & J Chevrolet Sales took three from the Antioch Lumber and Coal company. Pat Miller was high for the Mechanics with 562.

Keulman Bros. took two from the Pickard chinamen. Happy Schneider was high again for the team with 532. Mr. Pickard had one game of 201.

Pregenzers knocked Dr. Hays out of first place by taking two games. C. Haling and Ed Carney each had 574.

A clean sweep was made by O-B. Inn against Murphy's wonder five. L. Koppen was high for the O-Bs with
